

FAYETTEVILLE- MANLIUS LIBRARY MEDIA CENTER

December 2021

New and Noteworthy

- January 12, author Lisa Ko will be skyping with us! Come to the library to check out her book, The Leavers, before her visit!
- We are hosting craft projects in the makerspace for students, faculty, and staff. We are currently making coasters and trivets. Everyone is welcome!

Website of the Month

Masters of Tradition: A cultural journey across America.

This interactive story map allows students to explore the great diversity of cultures, communities, and artistic traditions that enrich the United States. Through abundant photographs, audio, video, short text, and first-person quotes, the story map addresses a variety of key themes, including immigration, migration, identity, heritage, and community.

COLLABORATION IN THE LIBRARY

Ms. Delconte recently brought students to the makerspace to make poetry coasters. As students designed their coasters, they were able to analyze the poem to determine what it meant to them, and which background, font, and excerpt from the poem would best represent the poem.

Students were able to design coasters digitally or by hand, allowing them the freedom to choose which medium would best represent their poem.

IN THE LIBRARY

November was a busy month in the library! Several teachers came to the library with their classes for a tutorial on Noodletools and/or Databases.

Noodletools has changed its format, so please don't hesitate to schedule a refresher for even the most experienced researchers!

We hope that everyone has a great winter break and we look forward to seeing everyone in the library in 2022!
